

NO WORKING MAJORITY

M.W.S.S. MEETS FOR FIRST TIME IN FULL BODY

Union of Women Students From Every Faculty

1 O'CLOCK TO-DAY

Origin and Activities of Society Explained

The joint meeting of the M. W. S. S. which will be held at 1 o'clock today in the Common Room, will bring together for the first time women students from every faculty in the University.

For many years the need for such a society as this one which would include all women students has been keenly felt. A movement towards its formation was started about four years ago when representatives from several faculties met in order to discuss the problems entailed in this step. It was not until last year, however, that the constitution was finally drawn up and passed by corporation as were the constitutions of the various societies subsidiary to this central organization.

The chief purpose in forming the McGill Women Students' Society was to promote the interests of women students as a whole. All movements of a general nature which affect students outside the Faculty of Arts as well as student in this faculty, will be met and dealt with at this society. The M. W. S. S. also controls the finances of the whole student body, and grants to the various undergraduate and subsidiary societies funds proportionate to their needs.

The women of this university have worked hard for many years to bring this society into being and now that it is an actuality it is the duty of every woman student to support it to her fullest extent.

PROF. MOORE SPOKE ON WORLD TOUR

A Trip to the Antipodes and South Africa

At a large meeting of the Pharmaceutical Society recently, Professor Moore gave an interesting account of his trip around the world. L. Sherwin who occupied the chair, opened the meeting by referring to the death of W. Fish, the founder of the Society, and stated that he left a vacancy in Pharmacy which would be hard to fill. The speaker was then introduced and for over an hour the audience was regaled with an account of the Professor's observations while abroad.

The Professor drew an interesting comparison between the colour question in Australia and South Africa. He stated that the Australians refused to admit colored men into the country and consequently labor was very scarce and conditions very backward. On the other hand, the South Africans did not encourage the immigration of white people and would not allow a white man to land unless he had at least $500,000 in cash. Pharmaceutical and Botanical aspects were also dealt with by the speaker.

Mr. Beld proposed a vote of thanks to the speaker which was seconded by Mr. Ginsberg. After the meeting refreshments were served when the undergraduates dispersed.

The graduates remained to discuss ways and means of forming an Alumni Society. A committee composed of Miss Munro, Mr. Lambly and Mr. Clark was appointed to make the necessary enquiries and arrangements.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR COLLOQUIA

Graduate Lectures in Physics Now Arranged

The following is a programme of special graduate lectures for the Thursday afternoon colloquia at 5 o'clock in the Physics Building. With the exception of lectures by Dr. A. S. Eve, Dr. H. T. Barnes, Dr. E. S. Biehl, Professor H. E. Rieley and Professor W. C. Quayle, each lecture is given by a member of the Graduate School and deals with some topic connected with, or including, his particular line of research.

- 1 Oct. 22—Recent Problems in Astrophysics, Miss A. V. Douglas
- 2 Oct. 29—"Electric Induction" and "Magnetic Force", Mr. B. Priestman
- 3 Nov. 5—A Problem in Convection and Radiation, Mr. H. B. Hachey
- 4 Nov. 12—Recent Work On Standard Cells, Prof. H. E. Rieley
- 5 Nov. 19—Some Experiments In Optics, Dr. A. S. Eve, P.R.S.
- 6 Nov. 26—"Magnetic Susceptibility" and The Bohr Atom, Dr. E. S. Biehl
- 7 Dec. 3—The Potential Distribution In A Discharge Tube, Miss M. L. Chalk
- 8 Dec. 10—The Experimental Determination Of Magnetic Susceptibilities, Mr. C. T. Lane
- 9 Dec. 17—The Stark Effect In Metals, Mr. W. Howies
- 10 Jan. 7—Some Applications Of The Triode Valve To Physical Measurements, Mr. M. S. Horne
- 11 Jan. 14—Problems In The Development Of The Cathode Ray Oscillograph, Mr. E. E. Watson
- 12 Jan. 21—Hygroscopic Materials And Their Applications, Miss L. J. Parton
- 13 Jan. 28—Some Problems In Biophysics, Prof. W. C. Quayle
- 14 Feb. 4—Some Problems In Spectroscopy, Miss A. I. McPherson
- 15 Feb. 11—Some Aspects Of The Electrical Discharge In Gases At Low Pressure, Mr. F. R. Terroux
- 16 Feb. 18—Precision Measurements Of The Electrolytic Conductivity Of Deliquescent Salts, Miss M. Crowe
- 17 Feb. 25—20 Mar. 4, 11, 18, 25—A Short Course Of Four Lectures On The Technical Development And The Physical Problems Of "Ice Engineering", Dr. H. T. Barnes, P.R.S.

SUPPLEMENT EDITORS LEAVE MCGILL DAILY

Managing Board of Literary Supplement has Resigned

Students are Asked to Support New Independent Organ

The Editors of the Literary Supplement are resigning from the McGill Daily and are contemplating the issue of an independent organ as the latest developments in the series of changes which have taken place with relation to the literary department of the Daily. The following letter, written by the four Editors of the Literary Supplement, is self-explanatory as regards the resignation, and tells, besides, something of the new paper. The Editor,

Dear Sir:—Although prepared to devote two pages of Saturday's issue of the Daily to literary material, the Students' Council has not been able to sanction the publication of the Literary Supplement in the form in which it appeared last year.

We, who were to have been its Editors, do not feel that the single sheet offered by the Council would be a worthy successor to last year's Supplement, nor that it would possess the distinctiveness and quality appropriate to such a paper. On this point, Mr. Editor, we are at one with you and the other members of the Managing Board of the Daily. Since, however, the four—not shared—that a

HART HOUSE MUSICIANS AT R.V.C. HALL

Haydn, Beethoven and Bach Adequately Interpreted

GOOD AUDIENCE

Nearly Two Hundred in Convocation Hall Yesterday Afternoon

A rapid audience of nearly two hundred gave most flattering attention to the Hart House String Quartet yesterday afternoon in the R. V. C. Hall. For nearly two hours the quartet held their audience spellbound with their exquisite rendering and sympathetic interpretation of three of the great master composers of the productive period of stringed instrument music. Three pieces formed the program: Haydn's Opus 33; Beethoven's Opus 135; and an unexpected finale in the double concerto of Bach, played in the original setting of the master himself, and not with full orchestra, as is often the case nowadays.

The audience was in full sympathy with the artists throughout, Mr. de Kreez admitting afterwards that the attention had been an inspiration throughout. The playing was deserving of the closest attention, a notable feature being the absolute sympathy of the artists with each other, no one instrument ever obtruding itself out of place, no bowing, no rasping notes to spoil the ensemble effect.

Dr. Perrin, Director of the Conservatorium of Music, introduced the quartet, giving a brief analysis of the works to be rendered which was very helpful to the proper appreciation by the listeners. The quartet itself is composed of Geza de Kreez, first violin; Harry Adaskin, second violin; Milton Blackstone, viola; and Boris Hamberg, violin cello. In the double concerto of Bach three members of the staff assisted, namely Mr. Brant, Mrs. D'Amour, and Mr. Durand, Mr. Brant and Mr. de Kreez leading.

In Haydn, the first work played, the full charm was brought out, especially the criticism of the last movements. The interest centred here in the violin parts, unlike Beethoven, in which the interest is sustained equally in each part. The flute like notes expertly brought out, predominated. Beethoven, the second opus played contained a deeper, more mature charm. It was perhaps the most impressive piece played. The interpretation was superb, the wonderful pathos of the slow movements, the most trying to play, being brought out to perfection. Mr. de Kreez deserves the highest praise for his well modulated notes during this movement, perfectly intertwining with the undertones of Mr. Hamberg at the cello.

An unexpected finale was provided by the double concerto of Bach. The sustained notes were clear and true, and the phrasing of the first part perfectly timed. This concerto was played in the original setting of Bach, which demands eight players. Three members of the staff assisted the quartet, and provided a rendering which fittingly brought a splendid recital to a close.

Separate folded Literary Supplement would prove harmful to the Daily as an advertising medium has resulted in the Council's refusal of our request for such a Supplement. We feel that the time has come for those who think McGill should have a distinctive literary journal, to make an attempt to establish one themselves.

We, therefore, feel it best to sever our connection with the Daily in order to be free to undertake the publication of an independent organ which it is hoped to make an adequate and distinct medium for the expression of the very considerable literary talent at McGill, and which will answer the demands for a Literary Supplement recently made in the Correspondence columns of the Daily.

Literary material, poetry, prose, essays or stories, of a certain standard will be accepted from any student while it is hoped to obtain also contributions from prominent graduates and members of the staff. It is also

CONVERSAT TO-NIGHT IN STRATHCONA HALL

Designed to get Freshmen and Freshettes Acquainted

The conversat darkly hinted at to freshmen and freshettes, materializes to-night at 8 o'clock in Strathcona Hall, to the joy of seniors and Sophomores who have availed themselves of its possibilities in former years. In spite of the fact that seniors are always so prominent at the function, it is designed for those freshmen or other sex who want to get acquainted with each other before the social season gets into full swing.

The evening is planned on the lines of a dance, the only distinction being that instead of dancing, one talks and gets acquainted. Each person is provided with a programme to be filled out as is a dance programme. In addition everybody is tagged with his or her name for identification purposes. The girls are understood to group themselves in letter groups so that their partner may have the minimum difficulty in finding them by no means always an easy task. At the end of each "conversat", a bell is rung calling for the next round to speak. Those intending to go should be carefully about the number even as this spells supper for this occasion. Several sittings one being provided to take care of the usual large attendance. Everybody is welcome, and everything is free, thanks to the generosity of the S. C. A.

RECENT ZIONIST CONGRESS WILL BE CONSIDERED

Maccabean Circle to Hear Talk at Meeting

SAMUEL J. RODMAN

Was Delegate at Vienna—Will Tell of Issues Discussed There

Samuel J. Rodman, executive director of National Young Judaea of the Federation of Young Judaea of Canada, a prominent worker in the Zionist cause, is to address the Maccabean Circle on Sunday, November 1, at 8 o'clock in the McGill Union. Mr. Rodman, who has just returned after having acted as a delegate to the recent 20th Congress in Vienna, and after having made an extensive tour through Europe with Palestine as his destination, brings members of the executive of the Circle state a vital message to the organization. He will discuss the outstanding issues which came before the congress during its sensational session conducted at Vienna, several weeks ago, when in the midst of hostile and anti-Semitic feeling the world-famous gathering arrived through important business—hat of discussing and viewing in all its aspects, the problem of the Jewish homeland.

Mr. Rodman, who is a university graduate, came to Montreal last year to take in hand the guidance of the Young Judaea movement, which exists for the furtherance of Jewish culture and Jewish ideals among the Jewish youth of Canada, with particular emphasis on the problems of Zionism and the re-establishment of Palestine as a Jewish land.

The speaker, whom the Circle has been fortunate in securing has since his coming here carried forward the work of the movement and is known in various centers of Canada as a fine orator, who has the problems of Zionism at his finger-tips, and who is in a position to outline the situation which is watched with interest by the world when the Vienna meeting took place.

Mr. Rodman, having been present

A meeting of the Junior Prom Committee will be held to-night at 5:00 o'clock in the music room of the Union. It is very important that every representative should be present.

MANY MATTERS DISCUSSED BY ATHLETIC BOARD

Solid Red Sweater Adopted for Rugby and Harrier Teams

APPOINT COACHES

Harold Lloyd Cup Declined by University Authorities

A great deal of important business was transacted at a recent meeting of the Athletic Board.

There was only one change in the personnel of the Board, Mr. James Nahanne replacing Mr. Jack Lewis. A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. Lewis for his service.

The Graduate Society who have three representatives on the Board, stated that in future they would elect one representative a year, for three years.

It was decided that the sweater of solid red would from this time forth be the official costume for the rugby and harrier teams. As the costume for the other teams of the college was not discussed it is quite possible that these may be changed later on.

The question of coaches was discussed and Mr. E. Vernet was appointed swimming coach, Mr. George P. Smith, wrestling coach, Mr. Raimonde, fencing coach and Mr. Bert Light boxing coach.

The question of the cup offered by Mr. Harold Lloyd for the senior rugby city championship came up for discussion. This cup was offered by Mr. Lloyd for the McGill-M. A. A. game for this year only, the winner to have permanent possession of the cup. The Athletic Board approved of the offer subject to the consent of the M. A. A. and the University authorities. These latter however, have definitely decided to decline the offer.

It has also been decided to continue the policy of making each non-intercollegiate trip pay for itself that is if a team makes a profit of one hundred dollars on one trip they may not take that money to make up the deficit of another proposed trip.

The Athletic Board have granted to the Students' Council the refreshment privilege of the stadium in return for ten per cent of the revenue of the gross sales; the articles to be sold to be subject to the approval of the Board.

The various members of the Board expressed their hearty approval of the arrangements made so as to give the senior rugby players at the Field House, extra, tutorial help in those subjects which they are taking.

Coaches and managers are to be instructed that if a player is injured in any game he must be examined before he may re-enter competition. In the case of players hurt in rugby Dr. P. J. Tees has been granted this right.

It was decided that the Dominion fencing championship should be held under the auspices of McGill this year. The request of the Department of Commerce for more rugby uniforms was not granted but, as has been the custom in the past as much of the equipment as is deemed unsuitable for intercollegiate use will be placed at the service of the different faculties.

At all the sessions of the congress leading to McGill his personal impressions of the event. It is expected that a address will be one of the most significant that the Circle will hear this year.

The meeting is open to all interested.

SCIENCE FROSH ENTERTAIN SOPHS

Banquet Voted a Great Success—Dean Lauds Science '29

The annual Science Freshman-Sophomore banquet held last night at the Queen's Hotel was voted a great success by all present. The banquet opened with Hal Alma Mater and then the Sophs and Freshmen rivalled each other in doing justice to an excellent menu. Everybody was in high spirits and there is no doubt that the good feeling between first and second year is finally cemented.

The two speakers of the evening were Dean Mackay and Professor Armstrong. Dean Mackay lauded the first year Science stating that they were probably the best first year he had seen at the University. He also lauded the entrance requirements had been the hardest ever set. He added that Science '29 were close second.

Professor Armstrong emphasized

ARTS FROSH-SOPH BANQUET NOVEMBER 5

The Arts Freshmen will act as hosts to the Sophomores next Thursday night at 7:30. The banquet will be held at the Queen's Hotel. It is hoped that the members of the Faculty will be present. An interesting programme is being arranged and it is to be expected that the Sophomores and Freshmen of the Arts Faculty will all be present to further the general good fellowship between the two years.

A Arts Freshmen are advised to pay their fees for this banquet to either Urquhart, Marks or Laflour not later than Thursday November 5th.

The value of choosing life companions—(from the male sex)—F. E. Wedon, president of first year, proposed a toast to the King, and B. Copping proposed one to the Alma Mater. The Freshmen then drank a toast to the Sophomores proposed by A. M. Irvine "For They Are the Jolly Good Fellows" rang through the hall.

The banquet came to an end with the Alma Mater, three cheers for the Faculty and a rousing McGill yell.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1925.

"SELF-KNOWLEDGE, SELF-RELIANCE, SELF-CONTROL."

Speaking before a representative group of men at the Union recently, Dr. Winfield Scott Hall of the University of Chicago stressed the importance of a thorough knowledge of one's own body, pointing out that this would inevitably lead to a more courageous outlook on life. Dr. Hall showed, too, the great need of the application of will power after knowledge had been gained in order that virile manhood might be maintained.

College life as it is organized now is not particularly conducive to the development of the ego that is latent in every one. Large classes, mass meetings, thundering thousands and the like make the individual student feel like a leaf on the autumn wind, or like a straw rushing at headlong speed along a powerful current. More and more time is, of necessity, spent in activities of one kind or another, and less and less time is spent in individual thinking and the development of an individual point of view.

Whether this is taking us all is uncertain. When we get out in the world, will we be mere creatures of circumstances, doing what seems to be done generally by those who occupy stations similar to our own? Or will we, like many graduates of this University, preserve ourselves in the midst of others, and eventually be criticised for our unusual attitude to questions of moment, which we base on the best that is in us?

Of course it must be kept in mind that there are compensating circumstances in our undergraduate life. By reason of our very activity, or activities, there are a number of offices filled by members of the student body, the holding of any one of which gives the opportunity for the exercise of individuality and for the cultivation of self-reliance. But it is safe to say that even this chance is passed up by many of those in authority, and in saying this we level a criticism at ourselves as well as at others. Too many executives carry on exactly "as was done last year", lest some feeling be aroused by breaking in some way with sacred custom.

The present situation should induce careful thinking, on the results of which will depend the attitude which we at the University have towards

"Self-knowledge, self-reliance, self-control".

CONDENSED COMMENT

With the return of the Soccer team to Montreal, one of the most encouraging intercollegiate international trips was concluded. The team did not make a clean sweep; out of three games, they won one, drew one, and lost the other. But they did leave a name for true sportsmanship wherever they went that speaks well for future engagements of a similar nature.

We note with pleasure that the first general meeting of the newly-formed McGill Women's Students' Society will be held to-day. The women undergraduates of McGill deserve great credit for the courageous way in which they have overcome the difficulties that are bound to lie in the way of such a new development. To-day the plan which has for many years been but a fond hope, begins to be realised. And though there is still much new ground to be covered, with the present efficient executive the future is bright.

We publish the returns of the general election as they were available at seven o'clock this morning. This is in an attempt to give to undergraduates the latest information.

SOCCER MEN BACK AFTER FINE TRIP

Speak Enthusiastically of Fine Hospitality

The McGill Soccer team arrived back yesterday morning after their successful trip to Springfield, New Haven, New York and West Point. In an interview with the Daily reporter all the men were enthusiastic about the royal reception which they received at all the colleges visited. The trip was in all respects a great success and all the colleges were desirous of having them return next year. In fact, the West Pointers went so far as to suggest a permanent fixture.

Each man on the team played well. Helwig shone as the most consistent player and showed perfect condition. Gavin gave a splendid exhibition of individual play, particularly in the opening game. Giovando played a magnificent game against the Army. After Archibald had been hurt, Moffat accounted for three goals for Mc-

FENCING CLUB WILL PRACTICE NEXT WEEK

In an interview with M. Doushikes, manager of the Fencing Club, it was ascertained that classes in fencing would commence next week. The delay up to the present has been due to the inability to secure equipment at any earlier date. Doushikes stated further that negotiations have been entered upon to secure adequate quarters and other essentials necessary to insure a successful year. It is also announced that meets with other clubs and regiments of the garrison will be held. M. Crestohl, Intercollegiate and Provincial Fencing champion will be out again this year with the Club, as will other experienced members. Announcement of the Club's first meeting, in addition to other necessary information, will be made through the Notice Column during the early part of next week.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Daily is not responsible for sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE SIDE of the paper ONLY.

No communication will be admitted in this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for PUBLICATION.

The Editor,

McGill Daily.
Dear Sir, Will you be so good as to accept, and to convey to the other members of the Managing Board, my resignation as Literary Editor of the McGill Daily? My past connection with this paper has been most happy one, and, as I feel that a complete statement of my principal reasons for this step may in justice be demanded by yourself and by the Student Body, I now ask you for some space in your correspondence columns, to express publicly these reasons.

In another part of these columns I hope to see a letter signed by myself and some of those of whom I had asked to co-operate with me in the publication of a Literary Supplement. Nevertheless, I feel that my peculiar position on the News Board of the Daily requires a more detailed explanation on my part.

Last session, I was asked to edit, for the present college year, a Literary Supplement, which would be published in the same form as heretofore. On returning to college this session, I was informed that the Students' Council had decided that there would be no Literary Supplement, but instead were literary columns.

After having decided to continue as a member of the News Board for the purpose of editing these columns, I was told by the Managing Board that we should thereafter have again the real Literary Supplement, with the difference that it was to appear on Saturday instead of on Wednesday. Very much elated at the restoring of a literary venture, of which I thing McGill students might have been very proud, I asked three students to be contributing editors of and several others to be contributors to a "Literary Supplement."

Those whom I asked to assist in the production of this organ were told by me, as I was in turn told by the Managing Board, that the Supplement would be, in form, exactly as it was last year. When, on the day before the first issue of the Literary Supplement was to go to press, the Advertising Manager (who, by virtue of the promises which he makes with advertisers in the McGill Daily has, in practice, the power of final decision in the matter of the Daily's form) announced that the Supplement could not appear as a tabloid section of the Daily, I withdrew the "copy" from the press.

After the Students' Council, at its meeting of Oct. 27th, decided to support the point of view of the Advertising Manager, I made up my mind to resign from the position of Literary Editor. My reasons therefor are as follows:—

(1) In just ice to the people who had been invited to aid in the production of a Literary Supplement, I considered myself bound to make a gesture of approval of the situation with regard to these people, in which I had been placed.

(2) I do not consider that the mechanical severance of the literary pages of the Daily from the rest of the paper would give it the position of distinctiveness, which a so-called Literary Supplement should occupy; and the suggestion of those who propose that it would, I consider an affront to the students who have agreed to, and others who would, contribute to the Literary Supplement.

(3) I wish to protest, through this resignation, against what seems to me a flagrant piece of evidence of the adominable commercialism which has been insinuating its way into student affairs at McGill University. That the views of a group of Montreal business men and their agent in the Students' Society should influence so materially the decisions of the Students' Council appears to me highly regrettable.

(4) The views of those students at McGill, who are interested in original literary endeavour, I hold myself in some way to represent. The lack of definiteness which the Managing Board has displayed as regards the Daily space to be used for their productions, I come to the conclusion demanded at last a definite stand on my side. Such a stand I have now taken; I herewith abide by the consequences.

Yours sincerely,

ALLAN LATHAM.

Dear Sir,—An editorial in your issue of October 22nd, 1925, on "Canada's Crisis" includes the following statement:

"Secondly comes the C. N. R., a great public-owned corporation that cost the country $700,000,000 in capital expenditure, and over $200,000,000 in operating losses. At the present time it is losing $10,000 AN HOUR in operating losses."

$10,000 operating loss per hour means $87,600,000 operating loss per year.

Those of your readers who are informed as to the facts know that there have been no operating losses since the properties were amalgamated. In 1922 there was a net operating profit of $3,008,625.29. In 1923 there was a net operating profit of $20,430,649.08. In 1924, in the face of a serious decline in business as compared with 1923, the net revenues from operation were $17,244,251.48. In the present year, available data from January 1st to September 30th, show net revenues from operation to be $6,075,820.27 MORE (103% more) than earned during the corresponding period of 1924 when business was about 2 per cent better, the net operating revenues for the first nine months of this year being $12,325,762.55 as compared with $6,075,820.27 for the corresponding period of 1924.

We commend your pointing out to the students that it is their duty to study facts and conditions seriously in order that they may have a fair understanding of the country's situation. As the Canadian National Railways figure largely in this situation it is only fair that the students be correctly informed as to the actual results from operation.

Very truly yours,

R. V. C. Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Madam:—In answer to the letter from "R. V. C. '26" which appeared in this column yesterday may I state that although the article itself was written by a man, the information was supplied by a student of the R. V. C. and was, through ignorance exaggerated.

In reference to the remark that there are some 20-25 R. V. C. students entitled to vote may I say that in the fourth year alone there are approximately 20 students of voting age. In the lower years there are known to be several more, some of them being found in even the first year. I regret that I was unable to obtain the exact numbers of such students. It is, of course, quite possible that for other reasons some of these students are not entitled to vote but that fact was not taken into account by the person who supplied the information.

The writer of the article "Will not Divulge Rights to Vote—Age Question?" I must say, did express himself a bit forcefully, but on first hand information I am able to state that this article was not meant to be taken as seriously as "R. V. C. '26" seems to have taken it. It was not intended as a slur on the women students of McGill but was, so to speak, poking fun at them, although I am forced to admit that one would doubt this from the unfortunate wording of the article.

Surely the R. V. C. has enough of the spirit of good sportsmanship to accept these motives and let the matter rest.

Thanking you for this valuable space in your column, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
"ANOTHER R. V. C. '26"

The Editor,

McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:—In an article in yesterday's Daily under the heading "Supplement is Again Subject of Discussion," it is stated that, contrary to the wishes of the Managing Board, there is to be a Literary Supplement whose only distinctiveness is separation by cutting from two pages of news matter. It was said further that the reason why the Students' Council went against the decision of the Managing Board was that the Advertising Manager considered that a tabloid Literary Supplement would be, in effect, a breach of contract with several of the advertisers.

In this connection, may I ask the following questions: Why was there not a more elaborate explanation of the Advertising Manager's objections to a tabloid Literary Supplement? Why is the point of view of the Advertising Manager, a paid servant of the Students' Society, given so much weight as to effect a fundamental change in the plans of the Managing Board for its Literary department?

Thanking you for your space, I remain

The Editor,

McGill Daily.

My Dear Sir:—We were told in yesterday's Daily that the Literary Supplement is not to be a sheet free and almost independent on its father, the McGill Daily proper. We, the students of Old McGill, were told at the beginning of the year, that the Supplement was to be defunct, that is "canned." Is there any better word than "can," Mr. Editor? We can think of none. Then Mr. Editor, there was to be a supplement, which must not, however, be in the historic tabloid form based, as we believe, on the mosaic tablets of stone.

ROOTER'S BAND TO ADVERTISE THE FRESHMAN

Expect to Cover Greater Part of Expense to Toronto

PARADE TO-MORROW Final Rehearsal this After- noon Under Bandmaster Gagnier

To-morrow afternoon the McGill Rooter's Band will present for the edification of Montreal music lovers in general a programme extending over two or more hours. The Capitol is utilising this famous aggregation as an advertising medium for its next week feature presentation. "The Freshman." Plans are now being complete and it is understood that the stunt will include quite an extensive parade along St. Catherine Street and vicinity.

E. M. Casey "the embryonic Sousa" put the boys through the lengthy programme of marches and popular numbers yesterday afternoon in the Union. While the rehearsal did not include a full turn-out yet considerable was accomplished in brushing up the rough spots in the various pieces. This affair to-morrow afternoon will go part way towards ensuring the trip to Varsity on the 14th, and the more men present on parade will mean a proportionately larger return towards the expenses of the trip. It was suggested at yesterday's practice that those men who fail to appear for to-morrow's engagement will be asked to contribute a certain amount of cash for the Toronto trip.

There is to be a final rehearsal this afternoon at five o'clock and it is expected that Bandmaster Gagnier will be present to put the polish on the programme to be played to-morrow. Every member of the outfit is urgently requested to be present at this afternoon's practice.

INTERFACULTY RUN IS TO-MORROW

Five Will be Selected for Intercollegiate Run

Practically all arrangements for the Intercollegiate Harrier Meet, which will be held here on Nov. 7th, have been completed, but the choice of the McGill runners will not be announced until after the interfaculty race, which will take place to-morrow morning. On both occasions the usual harrier course of slightly over five miles will be used, and the club believes that it will be in a position to select the men who do well tomorrow for the race over the same course a week later. The intercollegiate rules allow five men to compete for each college, four of them to count. This means that the first six or seven men in to-morrow will be carefully considered for the team.

The interfaculty results are still shrouded in mystery, as on one has yet been bold enough to prophesy. Science on paper has a very strong team, but Medicine, with such men as Brodie and Rubin for a nucleus, seems very formidable, as does Arts, with Scott, Shearwood, Thompson, and others all in good condition. Wally Walker hopes to lead a team in from St. Anne's, but no word has been received concerning the strength of the westerners.

The whole question as to what faculty will win the cup this year depends on the way in which the men turn out tomorrow. Although an entry list was placed in the Field House late last night, post entries will be received, and no man need fear that he is too late to compete. Last year only eighteen or so men ran in the race, but this fall more than thirty men have been out to the runs, and it appears likely that the race tomorrow will see one of the biggest interfaculty lineups in the club's history.

IBERVILLE DEFEATS McGILL CHESS TEAM

The McGill "B" Chess team was defeated by the Irberville players by three games to two in the Union yesterday. The games were all closely contested, both teams showing themselves skilled in their knowledge of the game. The McGill team greatly missed the services of their star player, Professor Slack who has recently left the University. Professor Slack was always a sure winner and accounted for many of the team's victories. The score of yesterday's match was as follows:

McGill Irberville
B. Garslick 1 E. Briggs 0
S. Kurner 1 H. Vidal 0
A. Edel 0 W. Decare 1
P. White 0 C. Briggs 1
M. Garslick 0 P. Marchand 1
The game between H. Lidsky and G. Gaudet was adjourned.

LOSS SUSTAINED BY MAJOR FORBES

J. C. Forbes, Noted Portrait
Painter, Passes Away

Word was received yesterday at the University by Major D. Stuart Forbes, Athletic Manager, of the death of his father, J. C. Forbes, R.C.A., at Toronto after a lengthy illness.

J. C. Forbes, R.C.A., artist and portrait painter, was born in Toronto on January 23, 1846. son of Duncan Forbes of Scotland, and Jane Furze of England. He was educated at Upper Canada College and later at South Kensington School and the Royal Academy, London, England.

Among his notable portraits are those of Sir John A. Macdonald, Lord Dufferin, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Oliver Mowat in Canada. Then in England Mr. Forbes painted portraits of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, W. E. Gladstone, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman.

On the fifteenth of March, 1888, he married Miss Laura Hollbrook; they had three sons: Major D. S. Forbes, Kenneth Forbes, artist, of London, and Norman Forbes (who while he was at McGill was never beaten in a boxing match).

All members of the University join in sympathy with Major Forbes.

S.C.A. PROVIDES THANKSGIVING FARE

Out of Town Students Will be Entertained

The Thanksgiving season is one at which the student longs for the comforts and associations of home life. Many McGill men and women are fortunate enough to be able to spend the short holiday by their own firesides; others however, are not in this class.

For several years it has been the custom of the Student Christian Association, through the kind co-operation of their Ladies Auxiliary, to invite the men who are unable to return home to join in a dinner at Strathcona Hall. This has been the means of taking away a good deal of the feeling of strangeness that is bound to occur on such festive occasions.

This year Thanksgiving fall on the ninth of November, and present plans indicate that the annual dinner will again take place. It should prove to be as popular as in other years and the speaker, Dr. W. D. Woodhead of the Department of Classics, will be welcomed by all.

It has not yet been announced when the tickets will be ready. As soon as this has been done, however, it would be well for all out of town men who expect to be in Montreal on the evening of the dinner and wish to be present to secure their tickets early. The demand for these tickets almost invariably exceeds the supply.

SOCCER TEAM MADE FINE IMPRESSION

Ability and Sportsmanship
Praised by Springfield
Manager

"It is seldom that we meet a team as clever and as sportsmanlike as your team has proved to be," says R. T. Boyson Manager of Soccer at Springfield in a letter to Major Forbes referring to the recent visit of the McGill eleven to Springfield College.

"We certainly look back at the visit of your team to Springfield with a feeling of appreciation," the letter reads. "It is seldom that we meet a team as clever and as sportsmanlike as your team has proved to be. Without a doubt the McGill team is the best soccer team that has ever stepped on the field in Springfield. One member of our faculty stated that it was an education in itself to see the McGill team in action. Although their stay was brief we certainly enjoyed their visit, and look forward to having them with us in the future."

Gill, "The abolishment of professionalism among the professors" should become a prime slogan of the economists. The Universal fee of one hundred dollars, which Arts students pay, would then be either cut down or turned over to the coaches, which we shall later propose for all the teams, and not only the Rugby team and theirs at present so endowed.

But, Mr. Editor, we are not altogether destructive in our criticism; we can announce (with bland smiles) that we have something constructive to offer. We would suggest that the generous benefactor of our University of Universities, Harold Lloyd, be elevated to the eminent position of Lord Rector. What a charming one he would make! He might even subsidize a "Motion-picture Supplement", which would enable the staff and student body to criticize (constructively, of course) the art of slapstick and the technique of comic relief. Let us boost the Backward Art!

Yours, with thanks,

proposed to hold an open forum to which students may contribute their views on Campus politics, and in which it is hoped the voice of the graduate will sometimes be heard.

This may seem an ambitious undertaking; we feel that it is. But encouraged by the evident desire of a large number of students for some such paper we feel, too, that it is an attempt which should be made. The exact amount of subscription has not yet been decided but within the next few days canvassers will approach students in the various faculties with definite information. May we urge all who wish to see a literary paper on the Campus again, to make its appearance possible by giving it the support of taking a subscription? In the meantime we should like to hear the opinion of others, and hope to see some letters on the subject in the Correspondence Column shortly.

Thanking you for this space, and for your kind co-operation in our attempt to secure an adequate Literary Supplement, We remain,

Yours faithfully,

Beyond a shadow of a doubt, Cliff Weber is the best snap in the Intercollegiate. The "Queen's Journal" proves that to our satisfaction. It admits that Cliff "is the second best snap in the Intercollegiate," second, of course, to the Queen's snap, and that is quite a concession for the Journal to make. On Saturday Blue fans will have an opportunity of comparing the two centres and we venture to say that they will find "The Varsity's" judgement far above that of the Queen's paper.—Toronto Varsity.

Co-eds

Despite the caption, this advertisement is not a dissertation on those members of the fair sex that have made Old McGill famous as a center of feminine pulchritude.

We unblushingly admit that we are inspired to write sonnets to their hair and eyes and lips — their beguiling, disturbing, irresistible charm, their temptingly lovely, wholly desirable beauty, the invitation to romantic tenderness each unit of this group of dainty femininity holds for us.

But we won't — we'll leave that to some student who can do the subject justice.

We simply want to say that McGill Co-eds know the 'phone number, PLATEAU 6161, by heart. That with a woman's unerring intuition they have made Yellow CABS their choice ever since Yellow CABS were established in Montreal. That they appreciate prompt, safe, courteous service and call a Yellow each time they choose to sally forth unescorted by a lusty stalwart. That when they do consent to thrill a mere male for an evening, they dispense the stuff that thrills more freely if he has a Yellow. That..... but, need we say more? Call a Yellow.
